A wide-angle landscape photograph of a golf course. In the foreground, a light-colored path winds through lush green grass and several trees, including a large, rounded tree on the right and a cluster of smaller trees on the left. The middle ground shows a well-maintained golf course with various green areas and sand traps. In the background, a dense forest of trees sits at the base of a range of rugged, rocky mountains with sharp peaks. The sky is bright blue with scattered white clouds. The overall scene is peaceful and scenic.
